Some retailers touch their cash as many as 14 times in their cash process. With CCi you touch it just once. Cash accepted by your till operator is never touched again, until it reaches your bank.

CCi streamlines your cash handling processes to provide substantial operational and accounting efficiencies whilst reducing shrink. It was awarded a prestigious international award for innovation in 2011.

"Cashview" device management software allows you to manage, monitor and maintain an estate of CCi units centrally, either from a cash office or head office, giving you total visibility and control of all cash transactions down to till level across your entire business.
